

Office of Continuing Medical Education
University of Missouri School of Medicine

Presents a Continuing Education Program Via Telehealth

“2009 H1N1 Flu: What it is and isn’t, What’s Known and Not Known”

Michael S. Cooperstock, MD

Department of Child Health
University of Missouri

Wednesday, October 7, 2009

12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m.

Acuff Auditorium

This program is open to all interested physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants and other primary health care team members.

Objectives:

1. Learn Similarities and differences between 2009 H1N1 and seasonal influenza
2. Learn Current treatment options
3. Learn Modes of Prevention

If you would like to connect to this program or if you have questions about this CME opportunity, please contact Lindsey Beckmann at 573/882-3458 or at beckmannli@health.missouri.edu. A sign-in sheet and evaluation form will be sent to you prior to the broadcast.

The Office of Continuing Medical Education, School of Medicine, University of Missouri-Columbia is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Office of Continuing Education, School of Medicine, University of Missouri-Columbia designates this educational activity for a maximum of 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Contact

Lindsey Beckmann
Sr. Continuing Education Coordinator
(573) 882-3458
beckmannli@health.missouri.edu